M'KINLEY'S TRIP.

President-Elect Safely Reaches the Capital.

His Journey One Grand Ovation

From His Native City to His Destination.

Canton Citizens Turn Out to Honor Him

And Thousands Hail Him at Various Places.

The Arrival at Washington the Occasion for an Immense Gathering at the Depot.

CANTON, Ohio, March 2.—Amid cheers and hurrahs from thousands of throats, which all but drowned out the melodious strains of the bands, the McKinley special, bearing President-elect McKinley and party for Washington, steamed out of Canton last night, at 7:27 o'clock. The crowd about the station was almost impenetrable and never before equaled in Canton. Just after Major and Mrs. McKinley went from the carriage to their car the incoming president stepped out on the rear platform and in answer to the salutes from the people spoke with much feeling.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 2.—The special train carrying President-elect McKinley and his party from Canton, Ohio, to the national capital, arrived at the union depot in this city at 6:45 o'clock this morning. A stop of ten minutes was made. A large crowd of people which filled the station proper and the train sheds, assembled at the station to witness the arrival of the presidential special and with the hope of catching a glimpse of the man who is to succeed Grover Cleveland as the chief executive of the nation on Thursday next. In this respect, however, the big crowd was disappointed, as the president was still asleep in his berth when the train arrived.

HANOVER, Pa., March 2.—The outpouring of four or five thousand people in Harrisburg station at 6:15 this morning was enthusiastic in cheering the cars of the McKinley train, but the president-elect had not yet arisen. Flags and bunting were displayed and people lined the tracks for miles. Along the road during the night locomotive whistles kept up the enthusiastic greeting to the president-elect. As the train slowly passed through York at 7:45, thousands of factory employes and other citizens densely lined the track for two miles. Flags and waving handkerchiefs added to the salutations of cheering voices.

During the night as the train was getting up into the mountainous country east of Pittsburg, a small boy was found sitting on the steps just outside the vestibule door of a car platform. He was shivering with cold and pinched with hunger. He said his name was Johnny Robison, of Pittsburg. He was ten or eleven years old. He said he was a Pittsburg newsboy. He had been forced onto the platform by the midnight crowd in the Pittsburg station, fearing he would be forced under the cars. Several men had followed him. They did not jump off, so he could not get away until the train was going so rapidly that he was afraid to jump. He was quickly taken to the dining car and warmed and fed, Conductor Cowie saying he would return him to his home from Altoona.

At Altoona a crowd had gathered at 3 o'clock in the morning. During the night the whistling and playing of bands and cheering of railroad employes was heard at every station, until shortly after daylight Harrisburg station was reached. Major and Mrs. McKinley breakfasted in their own car, and the other passengers were all up early to enjoy the scenery as well as partake of the inviting breakfast in the flower-laden dining car.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 2.—Major McKinley waved his salutations to country school children gathered along the road, while he sat at the breakfast table at 9 o'clock this morning. With him and his wife were General Manager Loree, of the Pennsylvania company, and Capt. Lafayette McWilliams and wife, of Chicago. Breakfast over Major McKinley started on a tour through the train to make a morning call on his guests. Before Baltimore was reached the Major joined a company of friends in the combination car and chatted and smoked.

His first act on rising this morning was to call upon his mother in the car adjoining his. She was seated at the breakfast table with Miss Helen McKinley and Mrs. Osborne, of Cleveland, while Mr. Webb Hayes, of Cleveland, did the honors.

At Baltimore the train sheds and viaducts round about were covered with a crowd of about 5,000 people waving and cheering and trying to get a glance at the presidential car. An exceedingly warm greeting was given Major McKinley when he stopped out on the rear platform and bowed his acknowledgments. The crowd was anxious to hear from the president-elect, but no speech was made, the major simply bowing and smiling. The presidential party was met in the Monumental City by Mr. and Mrs. Abner McKinley and daughter, Mabel, of New York, and Mr. Chas. G. Dawes, national committeeman from Illinois. The train was photographed at slow speed a few miles out of Baltimore on the last forty miles to Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President-elect McKinley with his family and large party of friends arrived safely in the capitol city one minute after 11 o'clock this morning over the Pennsylvania railroad.

The weather was cheerful and bright with warm sunshine over all and a temperature if anything too high to be seasonable.

A large crowd had assembled at the Pennsylvania station long before the train arrived, and it required the efforts of a considerable force of police to keep clear the approaches to the station.

There was a great deal of disappointment expressed among these people over the absence of military in the escort, but it was by special request of the president-elect that such formalities were dispensed with on this occasion, so the crowd had to be content with the sight of the magnificently attired staff of Governor Bushnell, of Ohio, in place of the expected military parade.

About a minute behind schedule time the special train came rolling into the station amid the cheers of a number of spectators who gathered at the lower end of the big shed to watch for its appearance. As soon as the cars came to a stop, Governor Bushnell boarded the train, entering car No. 38, where the president-elect, with the members of his immediate family, was in waiting. The executive committee also paid their respects to the incoming chief magistrate and without delay the party started for the carriages which were to convey them to the Ebbitt house.

Notwithstanding the long journey and the broken night, nearly all of the party looked fresh and bright. The president-elect, in particular, appeared to be in the best of spirits and those who gazed in his face for signs of the illness from which he has suffered very recently looked in vain for any sign of distress or invalidity.

The people were packed so densely in front of the Pennsylvania station and about the electric cars, and the horses being so restive, it was not deemed wise to wait to form the carriages in line, and as fast as they were filled with passengers they were dispatched by the members of the reception committee having the matter in hand. Consequently that equipage occupied by the president-elect was nearly at its destination before the last of the carriages started from the station.

As the party drove off the people outside set up a cheer, in which the Ohioans, members of troop A, national guard, who were to have formed part of the escort, made themselves heard above all else.

At the Ebbitt house the crowd had been gathering since early breakfast time, pre-empting doorways, carriage steps, windows and other points of vantage. The presidential party finally arrived about 11:20 o'clock and by a clever coup the president-elect gained entrance to the hotel without attracting the attention of the crowd.

A REVOLT.

Musselman Gend'arms Create Consternation.

Rebel and Threaten a Massacre Because Their Pay is Held Back—A Panic.

CANEA, Island of Crete, March 2.—5 p. m.—The Musselman gendarmes, in demanding their arrears of pay this afternoon revolted, fired shots and threatened to provoke a massacre. The foreign marines were summoned and surrounded the barracks of the gendarmes and fired volleys under the windows as a warning. The gendarmes did not reply. The town is now in a state of panic. The colonel of the gendarmes, Suleiman Bey, was wounded by the mutineers and is dying. In addition, several other Turkish officers were wounded by the revolting gendarmes. The Italian marines fired upon the latter, wounding several of them. The remainder are now yielding and will be disarmed and put in irons.

The insurgents effected a junction with the Greek regulars before bombarding the block house at Stavaros on Sunday. The Musselmans of Canea are so incensed and excited at the danger of the co-religionists that the lives of Europeans are in danger and the foreign consulates are threatened.

PARIS, March 2.—A despatch to Eclair, from Canea, says it is reported there that 2,000 Musselmans who were in the fortress near Selino have all been massacred and that great apprehension is felt in regard to the fate of 4,000 Musselmans who are besieged near Candia.

ANTI-QUART.

The Bill Passes the House by a Big Majority.

Seventy-four for It to Fifteen Against It.

Governor Mount Will Make it a Law.

Local Dealers Will Pay $100 for the Privilege of Selling—Many Bills Swamped.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 2.—The house passed the Nicholson anti-quart shop bill by a vote of 74 to 15. It requires any dealer, except wholesalers, selling liquor in quantities of less than five gallons to take out a $100 license from the county commissioners.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 2.—Notwithstanding Governor Mount's declaration that he will not call a special session of the legislature, many very important bills are still pending and there is great fear that the general appropriation bill will be swamped. Yesterday senators and representatives began talking of the absolute necessity of ten days additional in order to clear the calendars and Representative Nicholson, leader of the house, expressed himself that if the members would sign an agreement to adjourn at the time designated the governor might extend the session.

The bill fathered by the County Officers' association and placing all county officers on salaries, with an allowance of 50 per cent. of fees collected by them, met with a sudden and unexpected death in the senate, and the present law, permitting salaries alone, will stand. The bill was called up for passage, but after a short discussion a motion to postpone it indefinitely prevailed by a vote of 30 to 15.

The house spent nearly the entire day on the general appropriation bill and passed the measure late in the afternoon.

The claim of Mrs. Edwin May, of Chicago, for $5,000 alleged to be due her late husband for work in connection with the northern prison, was rejected, though an effort was made to incorporate the bill.

One of the features of the lobby was the presence of a large number of street car employes urging senators and representatives to vote against the three-cent fare bill. They claim a reduction of fares means a reduction of their wages.

By a vote of 53 to 33 the house of representatives struck the enacting clause from the bill to disannex the land of Mrs. Forsyth, of Illinois, from the City of Hammond, thus defeating the bill.

Strong opposition has developed to the child labor act which regulates the employment of women and children in factories, with an inspector at $1,500 and an assistant at $1,000. The bill has passed both houses and awaits the governor's action. Evansville manufacturers took the lead in the opposition today, with Frank A. Posey as spokesman. Governor Mount admitted the reasonableness of some objections to the bill which gives absolute authority to the inspector, and pointed out the chief objections himself, namely, that no provision is made for the traveling expenses of the inspector. Governor Mount indicated a purpose to send the bill back to the legislature with the suggestion that the defect be remedied.

OUR CHARTER.

Democrats Fail to Defeat the Amendments

In the Legislature—Republicans Pass Councilmanic Amendments Over Their Protest.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 2.—The democratic members of the house made a hard fight today to defeat the Fort Wayne charter bill, regarding councilmen.

They attempted to make it a special order for Monday, when no bills can be passed, but the speaker repeatedly refused to entertain the motion.

Finally an appeal was made from the chair's decision.

Many democrats threatened they would not vote for the Indianapolis street car bill unless the Marion county members voted against the Fort Wayne bill.

On an appeal from the speaker, the Marion county men had to show their hand and voted with the speaker.

Most of the democrats, however, voted for the Indianapolis bill, because the local democrats favored it and the fight of the Fort Wayne members was unsuccessful.

IS A MYSTERY.

The Strange Disappearance of Russell Montgomery.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 2.—The mystery surrounding the inexplicable disappearance of Russell Montgomery, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, from the naval academy at Annapolis on May 4, 1896, has been solved. Young Montgomery is fighting for Cuba libre and as lieutenant of a dynamite battery is making a record of heroism for the cause he has enlisted to defend. The Montgomery household has been relieved by the receipt of a letter to that effect by one who has command of a dynamite battery, but whose name for prudent reasons is withheld.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The House and Senate Quarreling Over Favors.

Senators Accused of Monopolizing Platform Space for the Inauguration—Other News.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The house was prepared for a long and hard day's work when it met at 10 o'clock today. Even at this early hour the rotunda and corridors of the capitol were thronged with sightseers and the galleries were crowded to repletion. The bad and long standing jealousy between the house and senate was touched upon by a resolution which Mr. Henry introduced at the opening of the session, asking for inquiry into the reason why past presidents had been ignored in the location of the platform, upon the eastern terrace of the capitol, where Mr. McKinley will be inaugurated, on the circle in front of the senate wing. Heretofore the platform has been built out from the main entrance and neither house had cause to feel slighted.

This year some of the members feel that the senators are seeking to monopolize this great ceremony, and the resolution was the outcome of this dissatisfaction. Under the rules it was referred to the committee. Mr. Richardson suggested an amendment to ascertain what authority existed for the erection of a platform anywhere on the plaza. The house waited about half an hour for the appearance of the conference reports.

The District of Columbia and naval appropriation bills, which came over from the senate were sent to a conference.

Mr. Hopkins tried to get a separate vote on the senate proposition to fix the price of armor plate at $300 per ton. He wanted that amendment concurred in. He said the Illinois Steel company was prepared to furnish the government with armor plate, for which we now pay $560 per ton, for $240.

"Is that company responsible?" asked Mr. Milnes.

"It has a capital stock of $10,000,000," replied Mr. Hopkins, "and has in it such men as Marshal Field, Rockefeller, Pullman and Armour. It is one of the strongest companies in the United States."

PRESIDENT'S VETO.

The president has vetoed the immigration bill. The message setting forth his objections to the measure has been written and will be delivered to the house this afternoon.

The senate passed the fortifications appropriation bill in thirty minutes. The deficiency bill, the last of the list, will follow. Prior to this Senator Quay explained, that by a mistake a number of Pennsylvania postmasters had been erroneously published as having been confirmed by the senate. The international monetary conference bill was taken up, and led to heated criticism by Mr. Dubois, of Idaho, and Cannon, of Utah.

The senate has concurred in the house amendments to the international monetary bill. This is the last legislative stage and the bill now goes to the president.

CLEVELAND SICK.

Prostrated by an Attack of Rheumatism.

Some Doubts as to His Ability to Participate in the Inauguration Ceremonies.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Cleveland has suffered for a week past from rheumatism, which has now assumed such proportions that there is some question whether or not he will be able to take part in the inaugural ceremonies at the capitol on March 4, though he is taking special care of himself in order that he may perform his part in the ceremonies.

While his condition is not such as to excite any alarm, it is extremely painful. Secretary Thurber admitted today that the president was confined to his bed. Surgeon General Sternberg, of the army, was called in yesterday and he said rest and nursing were all that was needed to put the president back on his feet, but he advised quiet and as little worry as possible over official duties.

For several days the president has been receiving no visitors and all his office work has been transacted sitting at his desk with one leg swathed in bandages and resting on a chair. Today he was not able even to move to his office.

AN ACTOR ILL.

Henry Schroeder, of the Superba Company, Sick in His Room at the Randall.

After the performance of the Superba company in this city last week, Henry Schroeder, who, with his twin brother, did a remarkable acrobatic act with the show, was taken ill, and when the company left he was obliged to remain in his room at the Randall. His ailment has grown worse until now the attending physician, Dr. Porter, pronounces it a bad case of lung fever. Mr. Schroeder's home is at Troy, N. Y. Misses Jessie Kihn and Nellie Ayers, of that city, who are relatives of the sick man, have arrived to be at his bedside.

HELD ON SUSPICION.

A Sextette of Tramps Suspected of Burglary.

Arrests Made Upon Information From the Sheriff of Paulding County—Other Cases in Police Court.

Last night Special Officer Nicely, of the Pennsylvania company, arrested five tramps who were found loitering in the vicinity of the transfer house near the east yards. They had come in on a Wabash train from the east, and upon being questioned they claimed to have been at Antwerp yesterday. This morning Superintendent Gorsline received a telegram to the effect that a big burglary had been committed in Paulding, Ohio, and that the perpetrators of the deed had evidently gone in this direction. The goods reported to be stolen consist of twenty-three watches, a lot of revolvers, and other goods. The men having come from the direction of Paulding they were held, notwithstanding the fact that none of the stolen goods were in their possession. The sheriff of Paulding county was notified of the arrests and will arrive this evening.

OTHER CASES.

Special Officer Fuchshuber arrested William Powell, Edward Bidlack and Dan Powell on the charge of trespassing on the Pennsylvania company's grounds. The men were not caught in the act of stealing a ride on a train, and as they made a plausible statement of their conduct, they were let go. The prisoners claimed that their home was in New Jersey, and that they were working their way back there after having been unsuccessful in their search for work in this part of the country. Three other prisoners, giving the names of James Kellinger, Harry Phillips and David Jones, told a story of the same kind and were also let go. The latter were arrested by Special Officer Borgman.

NO MORE IMPOSITION.

Physicians Organize an Association for Their Mutual Protection.

Last evening about twenty-five physicians met in the council chamber and formed an organization to be known as the "Physicians' Protective Association of Northern Indiana." The object, briefly stated, is to remedy the evil of poor collections. The physician is probably the most abused man in the professions. When he is wanted he is wanted badly and at once, whether it be in the daytime or at the unseemly hour of 3 a. m. There are many people who give their medical bill the least consideration, when in fact it is very important.

Imposition has been practiced so freely that the doctors have at last taken up the matter earnestly together, with the above result. It is not intended to work a hardship against anybody, and nobody who is honest will suffer. It is meant to catch the fellow who tries hard not to pay, or, in other words, the professional dead beat. At the meeting last evening Dr. Van Buskirk acted as temporary chairman and called the meeting to order. Dr. A. E. Bulson, jr., was chosen temporary secretary. The objects of the meeting were stated by Dr. Van Buskirk, and the plan of organization was discussed freely. The following permanent officers were elected:

President—Dr. S. H. Havice.
Vice-President—Dr. J. A. Stutz.
Secretary—Dr. G. B. M. Bower.
Treasurer—Dr. J. E. Miller.
Registrar—Dr. W. O. Gross.

IN SHERIFF'S HANDS.

The Possession of a Polish Church a Matter of Dispute.

BAY CITY, Mich., March 2.—The sheriff took possession of the Polish Catholic church today and drove off the guards. A large and threatening crowd of belligerents surrounded the premises. A score of extra deputies have been sworn in.

GRAND JURY CRITICISED.

Judge Expresses Disapproval Over Failure to Indict.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., March 2.—The scoring which Judge Stephenson gave the grand jury for failure to return an indictment against ex-County Attorney Christian for embezzlement failed of its purpose, for although the grand jury was sent back to reconsider the matter, no indictment was found. It is possible that a new grand jury may be impaneled. Mr. Christian was accused of embezzling fees against other counties in change of venue cases, which fees he collected in his capacity as county attorney. The law covering this class of collection is vague and uncertain. The clerk is required to make up the fee bill, and the court to certify thereto, and it is then turned over to the auditor for collection, but no officer is specified to receive it. Mr. Christian volunteered his services, receiving the certified bills from the clerk and collecting several thousand dollars. The auditor simply received what the county attorney chose to report; and after the shortage was discovered the county commissioners accepted a compromise at considerable loss to the county. Judge Stephenson, in criticising the grand jury for failure to indict Mr. Christian, was very pointed in his reflections, saying that thousands of dollars had been criminally embezzled, and although the county commissioners had compromised the civil liability at great loss to the county, still, in his judgment, the board acted rightly in getting the best thing possible out of a bad claim. The court held, however, that with this compromise the grand jury had nothing to do. Their business was with the criminal responsibility, and in the failure to return an indictment one of the most stupendous crimes ever committed in the county had been ignored.

BLAZE OF GLORY.

The Much Talked of Train is Coming.

It Will Leave Chicago at 8 O'clock and Pass Through Fort Wayne at 11:20.

The much talked of project of sending a brilliantly lighted train, bearing the Chicago Marching club, to Washington, via the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago road, is to be consummated. The train will leave the Windy City at 8 o'clock tonight and will be due at this point at 11:20. It will carry several thousand electric lights, including two immense search lights, one each, at the front and rear ends, and will undoubtedly be the most brilliantly illuminated train ever seen in this country. It is not known, however, whether the lights will be in operation when the train passes through Fort Wayne, and the immense crowd which will undoubtedly assemble at the depot to see it may be disappointed in part.

SWEET SIMPLICITY

Wesley Harris and Miss Minnie Grabner, well known young people of Jackson township, came to the city this morning, procured a marriage license and were made one according to the rites of matrimony. They took their wedding dinner at George Seabold's Star restaurant, where they were accorded a grand welcome, all guests present tendering hearty congratulations.

They were married by Justice Harry F. France who performed the ceremony at the office of the county clerk. The bride was gowned in a handsome white dress and wore white slippers.

At his office yesterday afternoon Justice France united in marriage Clarence H. Baird and Emma Beaber.

BADLY BURNED.

Explosion of Gasoline Injures Two Persons.

Misses Gertrude Alliger and Rebecca Biggs the Victims—Fire Department Summoned to the Scene.

An accident by which Miss Rebecca Biggs and her niece, Miss Gertrude Alliger, sustained fearful injuries, occurred at the apartment of the ladies shortly after 7 o'clock this morning. Misses Biggs and Alliger conduct a dressmaking establishment in the rear of Miss Rose Johnson's residence, at the northeast corner of Berry street and Maiden Lane. This morning, Miss Bates, a member of the household, while trying to operate a gasoline stove, lost control of the valve and an explosion followed. Miss Biggs and Miss Alliger rushed into the room to render such assistance as they could, and the latter picked up a bowl of liquid which she took to be water and dashed the contents into the flames. There was a terrific explosion. The vessel contained gasoline, not water. Flames enveloped the forms of the two ladies, burning both of them terribly. Miss Alliger's injuries are confined to the neck, face and head, the flesh in some places being burned to a crisp. Miss Biggs is burned badly about the lower limbs and back.

During the excitement the flames gathered headway, threatening to destroy the building, but an alarm soon brought the fire department to the scene and the blaze was extinguished at a loss of $50. Neighbors rushed in to find the unfortunate ladies with their clothing nearly burned off and screaming with agony. Dr. Dinnen dressed their injuries and says the burns are very severe but not necessarily dangerous. It is feared that Miss Alliger's features will be marked for life. The strangest part of the accident is that Miss Bates, who was lighting the fire when the first explosion occurred, escaped injury.

Last evening the Clover Leaf Temperance club met with Miss Jessie Mong, No. 76 Riverside avenue. Misses Bertha Mong and Kate and Viola Romy were given the full obligation of the club. The application of Bert Whitney was accepted. This is the limit to membership. The limit is twelve boys and twelve girls.

SEASON OF LENT.

Period of Fasting and Prayer Begins Tomorrow.

Catholic Regulations Promulgated by the Holy See—Services to be Held in Various Churches.

The season of Lent begins with Ash Wednesday tomorrow, thus bringing a suspension, temporarily, to society's festivities. The Catholic and Lutheran denominations are the most rigid observers of Lent and all through the season services are held in these churches. Lutherans will have services every Wednesday until the week before Easter Sunday, when sermons and prayer services will be held four evenings. Catholics everywhere observe Lent by fasting and abstinence. The regulations for this diocese have been issued by Bishop Rademacher and do not differ materially from those of previous years.

At Trinity Episcopal church there will be services tomorrow at 7 and 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 in the evening. There will be services every day during Lent and once a week in the evening.

In the Catholic churches the Lenten season will commence tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with high mass, sermons, and the blessing and distribution of the ashes emblematic of penitence. Each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a sermon in each church, followed by benediction of the blessed sacrament, and on Friday evening the devotion of the way of the cross, followed by benediction. The only exception is in St. Paul's church, where the exercises will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, respectively. The Lenten sermons will be preached by the following clergymen: Cathedral, the Rev. John R. Quinlan; St. Mary's, the Rev. J. H. Oechtering; St. Patrick's, the Rev. J. F. Delaney; St. Peter's, the Rev. Ferdinand Koerdt; St. Paul's, the Rev. Edward Koenig.

FOX-EDMUNDS.

George T. Fox and Minnie Edmunds Join Hands and Hearts in Marriage.

At 8 o'clock this morning St. Patrick's Catholic church was the scene of a wedding, the contracting parties to which were Miss Minnie Edmunds and George T. Fox. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Delaney in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The attendants were Clement Fox and Miss Marie Fox. After the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride, where a wedding breakfast was served. Immediately afterwards the couple left for Toledo and other cities for a brief wedding trip. The bride is the daughter of William Edmunds, well known as an employe of Bash & Co. She possesses the graces of charming young womanhood and is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. The groom is a clever young gentleman, who holds a responsible position as bookkeeper in Fisher Bros.' wholesale paper house and is the son of Gus Fox, of the firm of Louis Fox & Bro. The couple upon their return will reside with her parents until their new home, now being built for their occupancy on Walnut street, is completed.

MOCK TRIAL.

Young John Finley "Arrested" on the Charge of Robbing a Hen Roost.

A most appalling crime has been committed in Bloomingdale. John J. Finley, a bright young man who has heretofore borne an unstained reputation, has been caught in the act of stealing thirteen chickens. His arrest was accomplished through the strategy of Elbert Colvin, the sheriff of Bloomingdale, and a grand jury, whose members are known as the first young ladies in church circles of that part of town, have returned an indictment against the unfortunate young prisoner. Tonight the Bloomingdale circuit court, presided over by Judge Stephen Chase, will convene at the North Side Baptist mission to take up young Finley's case and decide whether he shall be sent to the penitentiary for life or be given his freedom. The prosecution will be energetically pushed by Elmer Lichtenwalter, who expects upon this occasion to make the master stroke of his life. George Misner will present an able defense. William Braddock will be clerk of the court and Fred Jenne will be reporter. A jury of twelve true and tried young ladies will weigh the case and it is more than likely that their sympathizing hearts will set poor Johnny Finley free. The fact that the thirteen chickens stolen are only imaginary chickens and that the proceedings are only a mock trial will make it appear none the less real.

CHARITIES MEETING.

All Interested in the Good Work are Invited To be Present.

An interesting meeting of the Associated Charities will be held in the city hall Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. All who are in any way interested in the charities of the city are invited to attend. Especially is it desired that those who have contributed toward the relief fund during the past two months should be present.

The work of the central committee on charities which was chiefly concerned in raising this fund will be set forth by the president of the committee, Mr. E. F. Yarnelle. The secretary of the Associated Charities and a delegate from the Relief union will describe the methods of these organizations in administering this fund. Rev. C. C. Cissel will speak on the duty of giving. It is hoped that from the winter's experience may be learned some practical means of improving the organization of the city charities.

THE DEATHS.

Odd Fellows Will Have Charge of John Rohrer's Funeral.

Miss Sophia Laehrs Succumbs to Consumption—Obsequies of Mrs. Kanne Will be Held Tomorrow.

The funeral of John Rohrer will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, from the residence, 33 Wells street, and will be conducted under the auspices of the Concordia lodge, No. 228, I. O. O. F., of which the deceased was a member. The circumstances of Mr. Rohrer's sudden death are as follows: He went into the yard, and not returning, Mrs. Rohrer went out to call him. About half-way between the house and the barn she found the dead body lying across a barrel, where he had fallen when stricken down by heart disease. There had been no warning of the approaching end as he was in his usual health when last seen alive.

Mr. Rohrer was born in Germany, and was seventy-two years of age. He came to Fort Wayne in 1865, and shortly afterwards opened a cabinet shop on East Columbia street. His shop burned in 1870, and since then he worked at his trade as a journeyman until a few years ago, when he retired. He leaves the following children: William Rohrer, the police officer; Jacob, Frederick, Frank and John Rohrer; Mrs. Lena Fromuth, of this city, and Mrs. Mary Campbell, of Chicago. The deceased was a member of St. John's Lutheran church.

OTHER DEATHS.

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Kanne will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Miller officiating.

The remains of little Claude, the son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Ladd, were shipped to Paulding, Ohio, for burial today.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Kress took place this morning from St. Paul's Catholic church and was largely attended.

The funeral of Frank Casey, who was killed at Delphos, Ohio, Saturday night, occurred this morning from St. Patrick's church.

The remains of Warren Ferris were shipped to Columbus, Ohio, last night, for interment.

Mrs. Sophia Laehrs, wife of Charles Laehrs, of 288 Gay street, died this morning of consumption, aged thirty-six years and six months. The husband and four small children survive her.

Sophia, the wife of William Hachmeyer, of Washington township, died this morning of child birth. Deceased was a sister of William Lange, of Root & Co., and of Mrs. William Rippe, of this city.

Lizzie Budde has been declared insane by a commission consisting of Justices Bullerman and Tancey and Doctors Schilling and McCaskey.

Two affidavits for malicious trespass have been filed against a Mr. Dolan for running his wagon into the buggy of Felix Cominkavish. The latter and his wife were thrown out, but not hurt. The buggy was damaged. Justice France hears the case tomorrow.

Henry Hirschfelder has begun suit in the circuit court against the Fort Wayne Consolidated Street Railway company for $800 damages for injuries.

In the superior court, Judge Dawson issued a writ of mandate in the case of Elijah E. Tanner against the board of public safety, in which the board is cited to show cause why Tanner should not be reinstated in his position as a policeman of the city of Fort Wayne. The case is similar to the Meinhardt Swartz and other suits against the board. The writ is returnable March 15.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND will have plenty of time now for duck hunting.

REPUBLICAN office seekers are moving on to Washington in vast hordes.

MARCH came in lion-like. Now, if there is truth in the old adage, it will go out lamb-like.

THE Baltimore woman with an income of $50,000 a year, married a bicycle instructor thirty years her junior the other day, and the Chicago Times-Herald cruelly intimates that "she must have had a wheel in her head."

THE cucumber industry in northern Indiana has grown to extensive proportions. Over 200,000 bushels of the colicky things were raised last year and made into pickles, putting more than $100,000 into the pockets of farmers.

THE session of the Indiana legislature will come to an end, by constitutional limit, one week from today at midnight. It will not be possible to pass bills, except such as may be returned by the governor without his approval, after next Saturday night at midnight. There are, therefore, really only four more working days before the body.

NEVADA, which is the only state in the union allowing prize fighting, may add to her disgrace by passing the bill providing for a championship belt to be given to the winner of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. The title of the bill is "An act recognizing the science of physical culture ethics and appropriating $3,000 for Nevada's emblematical testimonial to the winner of the world's heavy weight boxing championship, commemorative of the forthcoming contest at Carson City, March 17, 1897."

COFFIN nails were given a terrific blow by the Chicago council last night. Every dealer in cigarettes in that city must pay an annual license of $100 to the city treasury, beginning today. Dealers can not sell cigarettes within 200 feet of a school house. All sold by licensed dealers must have been inspected by the commissioner of health and received his approval as to their purity. No cigarette can be sold which contains opium, morphine, gypsum or other poisonous matter. Any violation of these provisions of an ordinance passed by the council subjects the dealer to a fine of $50 for the first offense and $25 for each subsequent violation.

THE city elections held in Iowa yesterday resulted in a general reversal of the republican victory of last fall. Citizens' tickets or the democrats carried most of the towns. A number of the chief cities of the state do not hold elections at this time, but under special charters. In Ottumwa the democrats carried the entire city for the first time in years; in Perry, the republicans were routed by a citizens' ticket; at Atlantic the citizens won, but the republicans elected Mayor J. B. Jones again. Algona was carried by a citizens' non-partisan movement, in opposition to the regular republicans.

They Acted Wisely.

The county commissioners acted wisely, and in the interest of the taxpayers of the county, by rejecting the bids made for the building of the new court house. Even the lowest one made was too high. Alterations can be made in the plans that will cheapen the cost of the building, particularly in some of the materials and notably the marble used, and still Allen county will have just as handsome a court house as there is in the country.

Professor Goss, of the chair of sanitary engineering in Purdue university, who has been much consulted as an expert by the commissioners, pointed out many places which in his opinion could be altered without injury to the building. These alterations involved no change whatever in the exterior or the structural arrangement. Cheaper marble was proposed, as was also cheaper tiling and a less ornate power station, and these considerations led Commissioners Ferguson and Baker to reject the bids made, believing, as they do, that the alterations will save the county from $50,000 to $100,000.

Architect Tolan will proceed as soon as possible in the preparation of the supplement to the specifications, embodying in it the changes that are now contemplated and the decision of the commissioners to receive new bids will not delay the commencement of the building more than two months. Allen county taxpayers can afford to wait that length of time if they will be saved $100,000.

Century of Party Government.

On Thursday next, when President Cleveland steps out of office, a hundred years of government by party in the United States will have been rounded out. In the election of Washington in 1789 and 1792 party lines were not drawn, and at the earlier date parties were not in existence. Washington was elected each time without opposition because he was pre-eminently the foremost man in the country. When the convention of 1787 met which framed the constitution it was the intention of Benjamin Franklin, who was also a member of the convention, to propose Washington as president of that body. Franklin was the only man in the United States prominent enough to be thought of as a possible competitor of Washington for that honor. At the opening of the convention Franklin was absent, and another member of the Pennsylvania delegation, Robert Morris, proposed Washington, and he was chosen unanimously. In the first and second elections for President Washington's was the only name considered for that office, and he received every electoral vote cast.

In the election of 1796, when Adams and Jefferson were the leading candidates, the first partisan contest, or contest of any sort, for the presidency took place. Parties had been formed a few years earlier but this is the first time they figured in a presidential election. The party line in politics has been present ever since. Sometimes it has grown faint, and once during the "era of good feeling," it had apparently vanished, yet it was never actually lost. Most persons thought then and afterwards that partisan division had ceased around the time when Monroe, in his second election, received every electoral vote cast except one. There was one man living then who was not deceived by this political surface sameness. "You are told, indeed," wrote Jefferson, shortly after that election, to Gallatin, "that there are no longer parties among us, that they are all now amalgamated, that the lion and the lamb lie down together in peace. Do not believe a word of it. The same parties exist now as they ever did."

The old partisan division developed in the contest on the United States bank in 1791, and which in 1796 revealed itself for the first time in a presidential election, has existed to this day.

Party labels have changed, but the basic line which has separated them (the great organizations and not the smaller ones) has remained the same. There has always been a broad constructionist and a strict constructionist school in politics, the former according relatively large powers to the federal government and relatively small powers to the states, and the latter reversing this order. To the broad constructionist, strong government school, have belonged the federalist, the national republican, the whig and the present republican parties, while Jefferson's republican party (of 1791-1829) and its successor, the democracy, are on the strict constructionist side.

On March 4 the strict constructionist school will have controlled the presidency for fifty-six years, while the broad constructionist line held that office fifty-two years when Harrison retired in 1893, and will have had it fifty-six years in 1901, when the term beginning next Thursday ends. By this close approach to an absolute balance are the partisan forces in the United States divided.

EIGHT HOURS

Will Constitute a Day's Work With the City Employes.

Labor Committee Has a Conference With the Board of Works—Notes Gathered at the City Hall.

A committee of the Federal Labor Union met with the board of works yesterday afternoon to present the question of an eight hour schedule for the laborers in the employ of the city. The proposition met favor among members of the board and the mayor. The latter informed them that as soon as the weather would permit public work would be commenced, and that the workingmen would be put on eight hours a day. As much as possible the work will be distributed among the unemployed in a manner to give many employment at least a part of the time. The work of building sewers, grading streets, etc., will be in accordance with the request of the union, eight hours to constitute a day's work.

The committee consisted of E. F. Rhodes, chairman; Henry Short, Henry Phillips, R. D. Payne and John Welch, and they request THE SENTINEL to return to the mayor and the board of public works their thanks for the pleasant manner in which they were received and the cheerful granting of their requests.

After hearing the committee the board proceeded to the transaction of routine business. The matter of vacating an alley between Creighton avenue and Greene street was left for decision to the property owners effected, who will be asked to settle the question among themselves.

The Hon. J. B. White asked the board to give attention to the matter which has been in the courts since 1894. At that time Mr. White objected to the levying of what he deemed unjust assessments against his property in White's addition for certain improvements, and carried the matter into the courts. He now desires that the present board adjust the matter. It was referred to the city attorney, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The glass has arrived for the new greenhouses at the northside park and in a few days this much needed improvement will be completed.

A number of Lakeside citizens are objecting to the construction of a three and one-half foot main brick sewer through their addition, as proposed by the board of works. They make their objection upon the ground that an eighteen inch sewer is sufficiently large to carry away all the drainage from lateral sewers that may hereafter be built. While the board feels disposed to give everybody a hearing it has fully determined to table the petition of the remonstrants when it reaches them. They say it is folly to put down a sewer of less size than three and one-half feet for the reason that it will be needed in the near future if not now. It is safe to say that the big sewer will be built.

IT CHARMED ALL.

The Organ Recital Given by Harrison M. Wild.

The Linden and Haydn Quartets Win New Honors in the Vocal Selections Rendered.

The organ recital and musical entertainment given last evening in the new auditorium of the Wayne street M. E. church by Prof. Harrison M. Wild, the distinguished organist, of Chicago, assisted by the Haydn quartet and the Linden quartet, of this city, was a success in every particular and the audience of 1,200 people attending were delighted with the program rendered.

Mr. Wild gave a varied selection of music which showed the orchestral qualities of the big new organ which the congregation has placed in their beautiful new edifice. He is a finished musician, one of the most skilled organists in the country, and his renditions last evening not only proved his artistic abilities but also the sweet tone and wonderful power of the instrument on which he played. He rendered fifteen numbers and was repeatedly and enthusiastically applauded, being compelled to respond to the encores. Especially pleasing and finely executed were the "Tannhauser" march and the march, "Queen of Sheba."

The Haydn and Linden quartets were on the program for one number each and sang together as a double quartet. Never had these well known musical organizations sung so well. The audience went simply wild with enthusiasm, and in each instance the singers were forced to respond to an encore. The first selection of the Linden was "Robin Adair" and the second a lullaby, while the Haydn sang "Annie Laurie" and "Lead, Kindly Light." As a double quartet they gave "Comrades in Arms" and another number. Mr. Werden, of the Haydn quartet, being absent, D. S. Griffith, of the Linden quartet, did double duty, supplying Mr. Werden's place. In the double quartet Prof. Miles assisted.

The church realized a handsome sum from the concert.

Rough on the Nineteenth Maine.

Major Parsons of the Nineteenth Maine told this story:

"There is some doubt as to what part the Nineteenth Maine played in the war, though most of the boys think it put down the rebellion. The fact is, the Nineteenth ate up the Southern Confederacy. They stole pigs, robbed hen roosts, cleaned out orchards and cellars and foraged the country so thoroughly that the rebellion had nothing left to feed on and so lay down and died."

Then Al Wells of the same regiment took up the thread of the story:

"We were sweeping along one day, dining on the fat of the land, as usual. Another troop was ahead, and between them and us rode General Hancock. As the general was passing one plantation the aged proprietor came out and stopped the general's party.

"'General,' said he, 'I want some sort of safeguard. These troops that have just gone by stole my pigs, lifted my hen roosts and emptied my cellar.'

"'I'm sorry,' said Hancock.

"'Yes,' replied the old man, 'they stole everything but my hope of immortality. Thank God, none of them can steal that.'

"'Don't be too sure about that,' retorted the general. 'The Nineteenth Maine is coming next.'"—Lewiston Journal.

Cold.

An acute cold is very disagreeable and if neglected may prove very serious. In its early stages it may be avoided by use of camphor. If the chest seems "tight," rub it thoroughly with equal parts of sweet oil and camphor and wear a compress during the night of flannel saturated with the mixture, heated and covered with dry flannel. Three or four drops of camphor in a glass of hot water, taken at night, is excellent. If the throat is a little sore, use a gargle of ten drops of camphor to a tablespoonful of water, being careful not to swallow this. Rubbing the nose with sweet oil and camphor and inhaling the fumes of the latter will help matters when the head feels full with a fresh cold.—New York Ledger.

YOUNG GIRLS.

Their Conduct and Health Often Mystifies Their Mothers.

Young girls often feel and consequently act, very strangely.

They shed tears without apparent cause, are restless, nervous, and at times almost hysterical. They seem self-absorbed, and heedless of things going on around them. Sometimes they complain of pain in lower parts of body, flushes of heat in head, cold feet, etc.

Young girls are not free from incipient womb troubles.

Mothers should see to it that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is promptly taken; all druggists have it. The girl will speedily be "herself again," and a probable danger be averted. Any information on this subject, or regarding all female ailments, will be cheerfully given free by Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Write her.

NEW YORK SLANG.

Some of the Words and Phrases of the Tenement House Folk.

The words and phrases in New York's slang which are rooted in the sense of humor of the people are very many. The word "growler" is accounted for in two ways, both of which credit the term with a humorous derivation. A "growler," be it known, is any vessel—pail, pitcher or can—that is sent to the corner saloon for the family supply of lager beer. It is said that the word grew out of the protests of the girls who did not like to be sent to the saloons, or out of the "growling" (slang for grumbling) of the children whose play in the streets was interrupted by their having to perform similar errands. On the other hand, the quarreling that followed too frequent emptyings of the can by "gangs," or social coteries of drinking men, is said to have given the beer vessel the nickname. The horse play of the mountebanks in the variety shows is commonly called "funny business," and the term has now come to be applied to all rough play—frolicking, scuffling and practical joking—among the masses. A flimsy excuse or transparent lie is called a "song and dance." "Why didn't you keep your engagement? Now don't give me no song and dance," is an example of the use of this queer phrase. The old slang words "cheek" and "gall"—meaning assurance—have been supplanted by the word "front," and we hear nowadays that a man who is unblushingly audacious, assuming or presuming has, not "the front of Jove himself," as Shakespeare wrote, but "an awful front—a front like de courthouse."

A tipsy man whose uncertain locomotion carries him swaying from side to side of the pavement is declared to have a "skate" or to have "his skates on." Men who drink too much and too frequently are said to suffer from "hitting the bottle." At first it was said of the opium smokers that they "hit" the pipe—as all pipe smokers do, to cleanse the instrument—so that hitting anything has come to signify an abuse of the habit with which the article thus "hit" is intimately connected.

It is a humorous conceit that led to the saying, applied to all who are dull or obtuse, "He has a fog in his head." With the same spirit a very rich person, or one who is prodigal with his wealth, is said to have "money to burn." To meet with a cool reception is called "getting a frost." To steal is to "pinch," and to be arrested for it is to get "pinched," though the genuine and general slang phrase for getting arrested is "getting the collar," a term growing naturally out of the action of an officer in hustling an offender along with a grip upon his collar.

Anything and everything that is done easily or quickly is said to be done "in a walk." Men are said to "get rich in a walk" or to win a boat race "in a walk." That is an expression borrowed from the turf, which has also lent to New York the word "ringer," perhaps the most difficult to explain of all the local slang terms, and yet, like all slang, most concise and expressive to all who make use of it. A "ringer," in slang, is anything that looks like what it is not; so that if a person is thought to closely resemble Grover Cleveland, he is spoken of as "a ringer on the president," or if he wears a brilliant bit of glass it is said to be "a deadringer on a diamond." "Dead" signifies the utmost, the veriest, that which is absolute.—Harper's Weekly.

BURIED IN THE DEBRIS.

The Strange Story of the Indian Troy, a Dead City.

At last the ruins of the Indian Troy, deeply buried in the debris of over 22 centuries, are likely soon to see the light. Pataliputra, the Palibothra of the Greeks, the "city of sweet scented flowers," so famous in ancient Indian legend and romance, is perhaps most widely known as the capital of Asoka, the greatest of Indian emperors and the most lavish devotee the world has ever seen. He covered his mighty kingdom, from Afghanistan to the Deccan, from Nepal to Gujerat, with countless Buddhist monuments and buildings of vast size. His stupendous stupas or mounds of solid masonry to enshrine Buddha's relics or to mark some sacred spot are found all over India and are almost like Egyptian pyramids in size. His colossal edict pillars, single shafts of stone over 40 feet in length and beautifully polished and sculptured, still excite the admiration and wonder of all who see them.

How magnificent, then, must have been the capital of this great Hindu king, who was the ally of the Greek kings, Antiochus of Syria, Ptolemy of Egypt, Antigonus of Macedon, Magnas of Cyrene and Alexander of Epirus. It was already a splendid city in the fourth century B. C., in the time of his grandfather, Chandragupta, the Greek Sandracottus, as we learn from the glowing descriptions of Megasthenes, the embassador of the successor of Alexander the Great.

At that time the buildings were all of wood, like the palaces and temples of Burma in the present day. It is a matter of history, however, how Asoka found this capital of wood and left it stone. But before the dawn of our era this great city had decayed with the fall of Asoka's dynasty and the smaller succeeding dynasties and the transfer of capital elsewhere. In 400 A. D. the Chinese pilgrim Fa Hian reported that it lay deserted and in ruins. Since the Mohammedan invasion, in the twelfth century A. D., the very site of this city was forgotten. It was known to be somewhere near the modern town of Patna, in Bengal, but most of the experts and others who had deliberately searched for it believed that it had been entirely washed away by the Ganges. Then it will be remembered that Surgeon Major Waddell, in 1892, during a flying visit to Patna, found that the leading landmarks of Asoka's capital still existed.

He found several sculptured stones and images of the Asoka epoch lying on the surface or built into houses or walls, and these, together with the position of the old mounds, many of which still retain their ancient names, enabled him to fix with certainty the limits of Asoka's citadel, and also to indicate roughly the possible sites of particular buildings for exploratory excavations, without which, of course, no detailed identifications could be decisively attended. Unfortunately most of the likely mounds now contain Mohammedan graves, for the Mohammedan invaders were wont to seize the highest mounds for their residences and burial grounds, and for centuries they have used these ruins as a quarry for their building material.

Still a beginning has now been made, and already at Patna, where five years ago no stones of the Asoka period were suspected to be, there may now be seen pieces of the well known stone posts, the so called Asoka railings, with their quaintly figured medallionlike bosses, by which Asoka perpetuated in stone the original wooden fences which surrounded the sacred Buddhist spots. And close by one may see, about 12 feet below the present surface, parts of "the wooden walls" of Palibothra, with their marvelously well preserved Sal timber, over 20 centuries old.—Calcutta Englishman.

IF LOVE IS AT THE PROW.

If love is at the prow,
The summer sky
Shall smile down, even as now,
And you and I
On rippling summer seas of life shall sail
To blessed havens with a gentle gale—
If love is at the prow.

If love our footsteps leads,
Then shall we stray
In flower scented meads,
Where all the way
Is balmy with the breath of radiant June
And tinkling brooks murmur a dreamy tune—
If love our footsteps leads.

Ah, love, let love direct!
His beckoning hands
With garlands fair are decked,
And his commands
Are laid upon us for our happiness.
He lifts the look to lead us and to bless.
Ah, love, let love direct!

A man cannot run away from Death. If he would conquer it he must stand and fight with the weapons of common sense and science. Thousands of men and women try to escape Death's most active agent, consumption, by running away. They flee from one climate to another, and from one end of the world to the other, forgetting their demon is within them and not to be escaped from by a change of locality. Consumption has been pronounced incurable. It is not. It is curable and without change of climate if the proper remedy is resorted to, in reasonable time.

98 per cent. of all cases of consumption are cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It cures all disorders of the digestion. It makes the appetite keen and the assimilation of the food perfect. It fills the blood with life-giving elements. It is the great blood-purifier, flesh-builder, and nerve-invigorator. It acts directly on the lungs. It not only cures consumption, but all other wasting diseases due to improper nourishment. All good druggists sell it.

"I have used one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am now on the second one," writes Amanda M. Blankenship, of Templeton, Dyer Co., Tenn. "I am pleased to say that I have received more benefit from it than from all the medicine I have taken from our home doctors in the last twelve months."

Whoever would like a complete medical library in compact form should send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This is a book of 1,008 pages, illustrated with more than 300 drawings and colored plates. Dr. Pierce is one of the best known medical men in the United States. The best of what he knows is "boiled down" in this book. He talks to you in plain English of all the sickness you ever heard of. Several chapters relate to the physiology of woman's reproductive organs. This book, until recently, sold for $1.50. At this price 680,000 copies were sold. Now an enormous edition in paper covers is to be distributed absolutely FREE. Send 21 one-cent stamps to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., to pay the cost of mailing only. If a copy in fine French cloth with embossed covers is desired, send 10 cents extra—31 cents in all.

How Is It Possible?

You can't see how mince meat, as good as any made at home, can be sold for 10 cents a package (enough for 2 large pies)?

The Reason's Plain.

Many carloads of the materials for None Such Mince Meat are bought at one time, at first hands. All the paring, chopping, seeding, stemming and cleaning are done by perfected machinery. Such immense quantities are sold that a mite of profit on each package of is enough. All grocers sell it. Be sure and get the genuine.

Send your name and address and mention this paper, and we will mail you free a book, "Mrs. Popkins' Thanksgiving," by one of the best known humorous authors of the day.

MORE WORK.

Wabash Shopmen Now Engaged Eight Hours.

Nickel Plate Trainman Has His Nose Broken—New Arrangement of Train Runs on the Wabash.

A message from Wabash railway headquarters last evening conveyed the glad tidings that hereafter the shops in this city would be in operation forty-eight hours per week, instead of twenty-five hours, as was the rule for the past two months. Notices to this effect were placed upon the shop bulletin boards this morning and they were read with great satisfaction by the men who are effected by the order. This increase in the working hours means a considerable increase in the amount of the monthly pay rolls.

BRAKEMAN HAS HIS NOSE CRUSHED.

While his train was passing through Grass Springs, Ohio, last Sunday, Brakeman Joseph Hamilton was struck by a piece of board which fell from the observation cupalo and alighted on his nose, crushing that organ completely. He continued the trip to this city, notwithstanding the severe injury, where Dr. J. M. Dinnen dressed the wound. Mr. Hamilton will probably be disabled for duty for several weeks.

CHANGE OF TRAIN CREW DIVISION.

The runs of trains Nos. 91 and 98, fast freights on the Wabash, have been changed so as to conform with the views of General Manager Ramsey concerning such matters. Hereafter these trains will change crews only once between St. Louis and Toledo, and that will be at Tilton. That city is by no means centrally located between the two terminal points, being only 181 miles from St. Louis, while it is a trifle over 252 miles from Toledo. On this end of the run the engines will be changed at Andrews, because the exchange can be made in less time than it would require to take on coal and water, but the same engineer and fireman will complete the runs to Toledo and Tilton. Conductors Morgan, Williams and Whittiker will have charge of these trains and the assignment of these men to this duty makes several other changes on the road necessary. Morgan formerly had the Fort Wayne and Toledo local freight run, Williams was an extra passenger conductor, while Whittiker was a local freight conductor having a run between Andrews and Lafayette. Frank Hockaday, of Andrews, a through freight conductor, will take Morgan's place on the local. The other places have not been filled. Concerning a similar change of terminals in fast trains over the Eel River route of the Wabash, the Peru Chronicle says: "The freight runs on the Detroit division of the Wabash have been changed as follows: Two through freights from Peru to Detroit and back will be run the entire distance of 200 miles by the same crew. By this change a crew will make 4,000 miles in twenty-one days, which will constitute a month's work. This will practically shut out Montpelier as a division point for freight crews. It is claimed that this change will shorten the running time considerably."

BRIEF MENTION.

Machinist Louis Seibt, of the Bass works, is sick and off duty.

William Backus, of the Pittsburg boiler shops, is confined to his home by sickness.

Engineers VanTilburg and Daniel McFee, of the Nickel Plate, are sick and off duty.

Supt. C. D. Law went to Chicago this morning on business connected with his office.

George Wood left last night for Fostoria, Ohio, on business for the Electric corporation.

A. C. F. Wichman left today for St. Louis, on business for the Anthony Wayne works.

John Stanford has reported for duty at the Pittsburg tank shop, after a week's illness.

John Ryan and F. J. Ruch, of the Pittsburg copper shop, are off duty on account of sickness.

Frank Gerard, who had been on the sick list, was able to report for duty at the Pittsburg blacksmith shop this morning.

Percy R. Myrick, superintendent of the dining car service of the Wabash, was in the city over night. He resides in Decatur, Ill.

Harry Hoy, a machinist, who formerly worked in the Pittsburg shops, is now filling a responsible position in Bellefonte, Pa.

President Blackstone, of the Chicago & Alton, sailed for the West Indies last week, expecting to be absent four or five months.

Conductor J. M. Wells, who had been detained at home by the illness of his little girl, has taken charge of his train on the Nickel Plate again.

The Delaware, Lackawana and Western last week dismissed several of its old conductors, some of whom had been in its service twenty years.

The Wabash has its large elevator, No. 5, at Toledo, in operation, the first time in the last five years. Its capacity is 100 carloads of grain per day.

Thomas Mulcahy, conductor of the east local on the Pittsburg, laid off today on account of the funeral of Frank Casey and Andy Dawson took the local out.

Superintendent E. A. Barnes, of the electric works, is slowly regaining his health, though it will be several days before he will be able to resume his duties.

Thomas Baird, of South Bend, a representative of the Studebakers, who had been looking after the affairs of the company in this territory, returned to his home today.

Walter Adams, the machinist, who had been sick with rheumatism at Chicago for three or four months, has recovered and this morning he took his old place in the Bass shops.

J. Aichlin, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is working again after an absence of two weeks on account of the death of his brother-in-law, Peter Lill, and the sickness of some of his children.

Pennsylvania train No. 4 had some ill luck this morning and did not reach the city on time. The chief trouble was with a broken drawbar, which had to be replaced with a new one.

Conductor Prindiville, of the Pittsburg, this morning received the following telegram from Chicago: "All O. K. [illegible] boy. J. W. Shean." The happy father is a passenger conductor.

The Nickel Plate train sheets Sunday showed that at one time there were fifty trains moving over the line. This is not a bad showing for a season which is characterized by its small volume of business.

The Anthony Wayne works has added the names of Louis Batkee, Neil Galland and Louis Kirchner to the pay rolls. That establishment is now in full blast with about all the men they can accommodate.

F. E. Rhamy threatens to sue the Wabash for damages because of an injury to one of his eyes. A cinder lodged in one of his eyes and he was sent to the railroad hospital for treatment. He claims the eye was permanently injured through malpractice on the part of an unskilled surgeon.

J. P. Morgan & Co. are credited with being associated in a plan of reorganization of the Columbus & Hocking Valley, and will advance $25 on each bond of the general fives, pending its reorganization.

Nickel Plate Conductor Seaney, who had one of his feet crushed by the car wheels about two months ago, has returned to his old position on the road, taking a train out today for the first time since the accident.

The Pennsylvania sent out an elegantly printed itinerary of the McKinley train to Washington, showing the hour at which it arrival at points of importance en route. Several copies were received in this city.

The Wabash had a good sale of homeseekers' tickets this morning. The number was a surprise to the agent who, because of the unusual travel eastward on account of the inauguration, did not look for much travel in the opposite direction.

Joseph D. White is afflicted with neuralgia and for several days will probably be unable to attend to his duties in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop. Mr. White has had several of these attacks during the past year, once being unable to work for several weeks.

A special car, occupied by prominent citizens of Michigan, came down from the north last evening, over the Grand Rapids road, and was made a part of the second section of Pennsylvania train No 8, en route east. The car's occupants will witness the inaugural ceremonies.

The Wabash operating department is much pleased with the performance of the Richmond compound locomotive, and say its power is limited only by the links and pins which hold the train together. When hauling sixty loaded cars on grades the train has parted two or three times.

Officials of lines leading west from Pittsburg are on the alert for some of the business to be shipped from that point in the next fifteen days. It is stated that 200,000 tons of freight in the way of glass, nails, iron structural work, etc., are to be shipped the first half of this month from that one point.

Several of the employes of the Pittsburg shops are off duty today on account of funerals. Those in the planing mill attended the burial of Jeff White, while those in the other departments attended the funeral of Frank Casey and Mrs. Kress, the mother of the boys who are employed in the tin department of the shops.

The Machinists' union have leased the third floor over 138 Calhoun street and have fitted up a club and lodge room which is a credit to the organization. They will hold their first meeting tomorrow evening and wish all members to be present. The rooms will be open at all times for the convenience of local and visiting brothers.

A number of the Nickel Plate enginemen are off duty at present in order that the extra men may get a few days work. Included in the absentee list for this purpose are Engineers Frank Tulley, Levi Larrimore, Charles Merriott and Ed. Wolf, and Firemen John Hood, Charles Davidson, J. Longworth, John Dickson and R. L. Drake.

The friends of Henry Towlen, of Clay street, gave that gentleman a surprise last evening, in commemoration of his birthday. There were ten couples present and they passed the hours in dancing and playing cards. Supper was served at 11 o'clock. Mr. Towlen was the recipient of a fine rocking chair and a center table. He is an employe of the Kerr Murray works.

Augustus Dowdell, for seven years general agent of the Gould Coupler company, has resigned to engage in other business. Mr Dowdell gained considerable fame during the railroad disturbances of 1877, he then traveling with Frank Thomson as his private secretary, Mr. Thompson at that time was the general manager of the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg.

T. J. Cummins, who had charge of the Lafayette accommodation on the Wabash when that popular train was in service, has taken the place vacated by Conductor J. W. Hockaday in the through passenger service. Since the accommodation was abandoned Mr. Cummins has been on the "mixed run," taking a fast freight east and a passenger train west. On that run he has been succeeded by James Adams, of Andrews.

EMERSON AND WEBSTER.

The Great Political Battle Between the Two Master Minds.

It was the defection of Daniel Webster that completed the conversion of Emerson and turned him from an adherent into a propagandist of abolition. Not pity for the slave, but indignation at the violation of the moral law by Webster was at the bottom of Emerson's anger. After the 7th of March, 1850, he recognized in Webster the embodiment of all that he hated. In his attacks on him Emerson trembled to his inmost fiber with antagonism. No other nature ever so moved him, but it was time to be moved, and Webster was a man of his size. Had these two great men of New England been matched in training as they were matched in endowment, and had they then faced each other in debate they would not have been found to differ so greatly in power. Their education differed so radically that it is impossible to compare them, but if you translate the Phi Beta Kappa address into politics you have something stronger than Webster—something that recalls Chatham. And Emerson would have had this advantage—that he was not afraid. As it was, he left his library and took the stump.

In an address he said of Webster: "In Massachusetts in 1776 he would beyond all question have been a refugee. He praises Adams and Jefferson, but it is a past Adams and Jefferson. A present Adams or Jefferson he would denounce. But one thing appears certain to me—that the Union is at an end as soon as an immoral law is enacted."

The exasperation of Emerson did not subside, but went on increasing during the next four years, and in 1854 he read his lecture on "The Fugitive Slave Law" at the New York tabernacle, in which he said: "I never felt the check on my free speech and action until the other day, when Mr. Webster by his personal influence brought the fugitive slave law on the country. I say Mr. Webster, for, though the bill was not his, it is yet notorious that he was the life and soul of it, that he gave it all he had."

It was too late for Emerson to shine as a political debater. Longfellow wrote in his diary, "It is rather painful to see Emerson in the arena of politics, hissed and hooted at by young law students." Emerson records a similar experience at a later date. "The mob roared whenever I attempted to speak, and after several beginnings I withdrew." There is nothing painful here. It is the sublime exhibition of a great soul in bonds to circumstance. Emerson by his writings did more than any other man to rescue the youth of the next generation and fit them for the fierce times to follow. It will not be denied that he sent 10,000 sons to the war.—John Jay Chapman in Atlantic.

Godey's for February.

Godey's Magazine for February is especially strong in the variety of its topics. Its make-up is also very attractive, the reading matter being interspersed throughout with illustrations, among them several full page portraits or types of handsome women. In this list is a picture of Carrie Hunt Latta, the author of the story of "Elsbeth" which ends in this issue. Among the striking articles of the number is the "Three Sultans," by Emma Paddock Telford, who reviews the history of "The Unspeakable Turk" with vigor and a tonic fidelity to the truth. Grace E. Drew continues her "Modes and Manners of Seventy Years," bringing the history of Fashion to the year 1850. The reproductions of the old fashion plates which accompany the article are plentiful, quaint and interesting. A very timely article in this issue is Mrs. Martha McCulloch-Williams' contributions on the marvels of orchid culture, which is illustrated with many pictures of famous specimens of these strange flowers. The pictures themselves are worth having apart from anything else, and are especially attractive. Under the heading, "A New Profession for Women," Marion Foster Washburne contributes an interesting article concerning the work of women who have made photography a business, with many beautiful pictures. Walter Clark, associate justice of the North Carolina supreme court, writes of "The Physical Napoleon," and Rupert Hughes describes the work of the New York Colony of Musicians. Beaumont Fletcher critically treats of Richard Mansfield as a dramatic artist. Humorous fiction lightens the number in the two stories, "Mr. Davis' Bear," by H. W. Phillips, and "Putting Himself in Her Place," by Janet Cary. This latter story is the experience of a man who became a woman. Strong dramatic fiction is found in the stories of "Annunciata" and "Dona Quinta." The Fashion and Woman and Home departments are full of new things, timely and useful. The Godey Company, Lafayette Place, New York.

DO NOT WAIT

Until You Are Sick in Bed With La Grippe, Pneumonia,

Lung Fever, Bronchitis, Asthma or Catarrh, But Procure Hirons' Remedies at Once and Avoid Danger—They Will Cure You.

Catarrh, one of the most troublesome and dangerous diseases known to mankind, can in the large majority of cases, be permanently cured. Many who were victims to that disease have been cured, and many more are being cured. Double treatment for Catarrh does its work effectually; clearing it out of the head, driving it out of the blood, where it exists, and ever will exist, unless the health destroying virus is eradicated from the system. Cure it. For it is not only a constant discomfort, but a perpetual menace to life. Use the New Asthma and Cough Cure as the blood purifier, and the Speedy Catarrh Cure for the nasal treatment for Catarrh, and soon those troublesome and distressing symptoms will disappear. The constant dripping of the mucous into the throat, and the pain in the head will cease. The hearing, sight, smell, and taste will be restored. Remember that a disease of long standing, one that has grown until it permeates every drop of blood in the body, cannot be cured within a few days or weeks, though the cleansing and healing processes begin with the first use of the two medicines.

HIRONS NEW ASTHMA AND COUGH CURE.

Asthma is a contraction of the nerves connected with the lungs, and is produced by three causes. First, by a sensitive area of mucous membrane. Second, an abnormally sensitive nerve center, and third, by an external irritant. With all three of these factors simultaneously, an attack of Asthma is produced. The disease often arises from Heart trouble, nasal catarrh and dyspepsia. Some of the symptoms, short, quick, difficult breathing, wheezing, with spells of coughing and suffocation. Asthma is supposed by some to be incurable, but the use of a few bottles of Hirons' New Asthma and Cough Cure will prove to the contrary.

A Word From Charles Yagerlehner, the Electrician.

Hirons' Medicine Co., Room 3 Schmitz Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

DEAR SIRS:—I have had a bad case of catarrh for 11 years. There was a constant dripping of mucous into my throat. Every morning my nose, head and throat would be filled up. After a terrible siege of trying to remove the mucous I would become so sick that it was with difficulty that I could eat my breakfast. I had no appetite. The disease developed into bronchitis and dyspepsia. I read of your Double Treatment for Catarrh, and after having used your remedies for a short time, I can cheerfully say that now my appetite is good, I have no more trouble with indigestion, my throat is well, and my general health has not been as good for years.

[Signed]
CHARLES YAGERLEHNER.

Hemorrhage of the Lungs Cured.

Miss Anna Schoeph, who resides at 103 W. Superior St., says: I take great pleasure in signing the following statement: All my life I have been afflicted with a bronchial cough. A year ago I had a hemorrhage of the lungs. Since that time for months I have been troubled with hemorrhages. I was advised by a friend to use your New Asthma and Cough Cure. I have taken four bottles of the remedy. I have no more soreness in my lungs and the hemorrhages have ceased. I cannot say enough in the praise of your medicine.

Signed. ANNA SCHOEPH.

Has Not Wheezed for Over Three Years.

Mr. Frank Joly, the well known Columbia street grocer, makes this statement over his signature: "I contracted Asthma about twelve years ago while working in a damp cellar. Many nights during that time I had to be propped up on my pillow in order that I might breathe. I used many remedies but received no permanent relief. Three years ago I tried Hirons' New Asthma and Cough Cure, and after having used two bottles of the remedy I was entirely cured. I have never wheezed since.

Cured of Catarrh.

The Hirons Medicine Co., Room 3, Schmitz Block, City:

DEAR SIRS:—I am twenty-eight years old, had Catarrh all my life. For years my appetite was bad. I could not sleep well. I was becoming deaf. The disease in my head became so bad that one could hear the air escape from my ear. To sum it all up, the disease was killing me by inches. I heard of your double treatment for Catarrh and began the use of the medicine at once. After using eight bottles of your remedies, I am happy to say, that I have a good appetite, I sleep well, my deafness is cured, and I have gained sixteen and one-half pounds in four months. I advise every one who has Catarrh to give your medicine a trial.

Wambsganss, sr.; the Revs. Biedermann, of Kendallville; Jinkuiltz, of Columbia City; Kieser, of Huntington; Reinback, of Avilla; Schmidt, of Decatur; Zorn, of Van Wert, Ohio, were also present.

"The Deacon's Daughter."

The above title seemed to arouse the curiosity of the New York public so much so that on the opening night the house was packed to the doors. The success of the play was instantaneous, and during the entire New York engagement the theater was crowded. The same big success was duplicated in all the large cities. The company is a powerful and evenly balanced one, and Miss Lillian Kennedy, as Ruth, presents a characterization, which for histrionic ability has never been surpassed on the American stage.
